My base of operations is Toronto, Ontario, Canada., where I freelance for the National Post, Toronto Star and the Globe and Mail, newspapers as well as Financial Post Magazine among others. I've been published in newspapers and magazine world wide; including Esquire, Macleans, Expresso Magazine (Portugal). I am what's known as a generalist, which stems from my newspaper experience and the fact that I'm curious about everything. While I continue to work for Canadian dailies, I'm available to shoot editorial assignments including news, sports and portraits for clients everywhere.

Beyond that I shoot corporate photography, educational and lifestyle stock.

I also love to shoot a few weddings a year to mix it up. I'm a photojournalist with a strong portrait skills, so that's how I approach a wedding shoot. My wedding portfolio is available upon request. (p.s. I only shoot happy brides).
